Let's Start!

Where are Tony's notebooks? In the kitchen?

Learning Outcome

Use information about locations of things to interact with others.

Ask your partner:

- Where do you cook your meals?
- Where do you do your homework?

Can Do Statements

- I can ask and say where people and things are in a house.
- I can talk about the parts of the house.
- I can express location.

Let's Explore!

Are Tony's notebooks in the living room or the kitchen? Let's find out!

* "Living room" is two words. Bedroom is one word.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Tony: Mom! Where are you? Are you in the kitchen?
Mom: No, I'm in the living room.
Tony: I have a lot of homework. Are there any notebooks in the house?
Mom: Not here. Ask Dad. He's in the kitchen.
Tony: OK ... Hey Dad, are there any notebooks on the table?
Dad: No, there aren't any notebooks on the table.
Tony: Is there a pencil sharpener?
Dad: No, there isn't a pencil sharpener.
Tony: Is Amanda in her bedroom?
Dad: Yes, Amanda is in her bedroom.
Tony: OK ... Hey Amanda, do you have any notebooks or a pencil sharpener?
Amanda: Sure. The pencil sharpener is near the scissors. The notebooks are under the bed.
Tony: Next to the bed?
Amanda: No, under the bed. Do you have a problem with that?

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Prepositions of Place

When you want to ask or say where things or people are, you use prepositions of place to talk about their location.

Preposition	Meaning
on	sitting, touching
in	inside
under	below
near	close, but not touching
next to	beside

Examples:

- The pencil is on the table.
- The notebook is under the bed.
- The ruler is in the box.
- The scissors are near the bed.
- The pencil sharpener is next to the table.

There Isn't, There Aren't

You use there isn't or there aren't in a negative sentence to talk about what you do not see or have.

Singular Form	Plural Form
there isn't	there aren't

Examples:

- There isn't a pencil in my bedroom.
- There aren't any notebooks in the kitchen.
